

SharkTalent Elevator Pitch examples

Career Talent examples

Secretary

Hi! My name is Linda and I'm the secretary you've been looking for. Ten years ago, I completed a training at the Schoevers Institute and I've been working as a secretary ever since. During the last few years, I've acquired broad experience at a big Dutch company. I'm no job-hopper, and I consider loyalty to be very important. I work to a consistently professional level, and am friendly and courteous.

Above all, I'm really versatile. Whether managing budgets, doing book-keeping or organizing a high-level meeting; I can take care of it. I'm certain that I would be a valuable asset to your company, and I'm looking forward to hearing from you!

Painter

Hi! My name is Shawn, and I'm a professional painter. I've been painting stone walls of houses and buildings, wooden window frames, fences, and so on for over twelve years. You name it, I paint it! I'm looking for full- or part-time employment at a painting firm or a construction company. I'm not afraid of heights, and I have a valid driver's license.

As a painter, I have a natural eye for detail. I'm experienced in all the phases of the painting process, from preparation to finish, and I never leave a spot until it's perfect. I'm trustworthy and very diligent. In other words, I'm the painter you're looking for, and eager to hear from you to discuss opportunities to work together.

Nurse

Would you give me just a few seconds of your time? My name is Joan and I'm a dedicated nurse. Five years ago, I completed a nurse-training program at the New York Presbyterian Hospital, and I've been working in this profession ever since. I'm specialized in orthopaedic nursing, and am a member of the National Association of Orthopaedic Nurses (NAON).

I have a compassionate nature, am a true team-player and eager to learn new skills. I have the courage and determination to advocate for my patients, and I speak out if things are going wrong. In my opinion, nursing is a life-changing profession, and I strive to improve the health of my patients and their families, day and night. I'm convinced that I would be a valuable asset to your organization, and I'm looking forward to hearing from you!

Car mechanic

Are you looking for a professional car mechanic who isn't afraid of getting his hands dirty? Don't look any further! My name's Dennis and my passion is fixing cars. The nature of my job not only encourages me to be a diligent worker, but also an effective leader. Fixing cars requires an understanding of how each part of the machinery fits together. And, as a leader, I never lose sight of the big picture.

Of course, I have excellent mechanical skills, but I also know exactly how to handle customers. Overtime is common in my line of work, and I don't mind working nights and weekends. I'm familiar with the growing number of electronic systems mechanics are faced with nowadays as well. Thank you for watching this video. I'm looking forward to meeting you and perhaps working together!

Financial Advisor

Hello there! I'm Jasmine, and I'm a successful advisor in the banking/finance industry, a truly fascinating world. After obtaining my Master degree in economics from the University at Buffalo in 2007, I've been working as a personal banking advisor at Lloyds Bank, Rabobank and Bank of America. As a seasoned professional, I'm used to working more than the standard forty hours a week.

My customer service skills are excellent. I believe that it's extremely important to recommend financial products that best meet the client's unique needs, and to recommend strategies that clients can use to achieve their financial goals. I monitor financial market trends on a regular basis, and often attend seminars and workshops to keep myself up to date. I'd appreciate an opportunity to meet with you, so let's get in touch!

Bus driver

Hello! I'm Eveline and I drive city buses. I've been doing this job for over thirty years in and around Berne, and I still love it. This job is much more than just getting the bus to its destination on time. My favourite part of being a bus driver is that you get to meet a lot of people. And sometimes I even see parts of my city that I've never been to before!

I know exactly how it feels to drive a powerful vehicle in heavy traffic. I have excellent driving skills, I handle pressure and stress very well, and have a basic understanding of bus maintenance. I speak multiple languages, and I recently earned a sign-language certificate. Would you like to know more about me? Then don't hesitate to contact me!

Marketing professional

Hi! My name is Jessica, and I'm the marketing professional you've been looking for. Since my graduation in 2010, I've worked as both an in-house employee and a freelancer. I find both these ways of working enjoyable in their own way. More recently, I've specialized in online marketing and social media strategies. And right now, I'm searching for a new challenge.

What I particularly like about my job is that it's challenging and fast-paced; I can't imagine doing anything else! I have good analytical skills, and am well-versed in digital media techniques. I also like to write content and give presentations, and am used to working under pressure. Thank you for watching. I would appreciate a meeting with you to discuss opportunities for working together!

Accountant

Hello there! My name is Stephanie, and I have a bachelor's degree in accounting from the London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE). I have over 10 years' experience as an in-house accountant in mid-size companies. My main responsibility is to make sure that all transactions are accounted for correctly, and that the yearly statutory accounts are prepared in a sound and timely manner.

I'm a team player, and do my utmost to make the team successful. I'm very much hands-on, good with numbers and have an eye for detail. Besides that, I can think outside the box and come up with innovative solutions when a situation demands it. I've got what it takes to add serious value. Thank you for watching. I would really appreciate a meeting with you to discuss opportunities for working together!

Financial analyst

Hello! My name is William, and I have a bachelor's degree in finance. Over the years I've acquired broad experience as a financial analyst in large multinationals. My main areas of expertise are financial planning and analysis. I'm very familiar with ERP systems like Oracle, SAP and JD Edwards, and I'm an expert in Microsoft Excel.

Besides being a team player, I pay close attention to detail without losing sight of the bigger picture. I'm a problem solver, a strategic thinker, and am able to communicate complex information in a clear, straightforward manner. I'm sure I've got what it takes to contribute to your activities, so please don't hesitate to contact me. Thank you for watching my video!

Police officer

Hi there! I'm Ashley, and as a police officer my daily priority is maintaining law and order. I've been working as a policewoman in New York City for over ten years now. My daily working environment is very diverse: I may be in a patrol car, at a big event or outside on the beat. A work rhythm like mine requires a confident and calm manner, effective communication skills and a sense of personal responsibility and resilience.

I have excellent team working skills, but also have the ability to work independently. I'm physically very fit, and used to conducting patrol duties on foot, by car and on a bicycle. Over the years, I've acquired a lot of community knowledge, and this helps me to better identify potential risks and crime. There you go! – if you're looking for a professional, honest and trustworthy police officer, don't hesitate to contact me!

First job after graduation

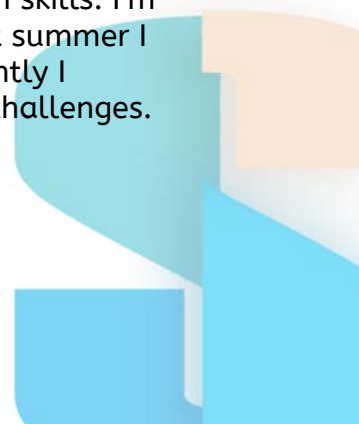

Hello there! – my name's Pete. In March this year, I obtained my Master degree in software development and technology from the IT University of Copenhagen. This program has given me access to cutting-edge knowledge in software design and development processes, organization and management. Furthermore, I've learned to design and program different types of systems; from mobile applications to web-based solutions.

I am really passionate about my work! I love the feeling when you're done writing the code and everything just works. I'm looking for a company where I can feel at home and where I can grow as a young IT professional. I'm eager to learn and to improve my skills, and also to absorb new experiences. I'm looking forward to hearing from you!

Student job

Hi there! My name is Paul, and I'm studying sociology at the University of Amsterdam. I'm looking for a fun part-time job for this summer and during the next academic year. I'm available from Monday through Friday, from 4:00 pm to 10:30 pm. And when necessary, I wouldn't mind working nights and weekends.

I'm highly organized and committed, and have excellent communication skills. I'm physically fit and I particularly enjoy hands-on work. For example, last summer I worked as a gardener at a private home just outside of town, and recently I prepared light meals at a local restaurant. I'm definitely open to new challenges. If you're as enthusiastic and ambitious as I am, do contact me.

Copywriter

Hi! My name is Peggy, and I'm a junior copywriter. I have experience in writing slogans, leaflets, brochures and (web) articles for both large and small clients. What makes my job so varied and interesting is that I often have to handle several client accounts at the same time. That requires a rather thick skin and a stress-proof nature! Furthermore, I'm not afraid to tackle projects with very tight deadlines.

I'm creative, and love to come up with fresh ideas. Each day, it's a fun challenge to keep writing in a clear, persuasive and original way. And therefore it's important to keep up to date with popular culture and trends; I know what's going on in my field. For examples of my writing, you can always check my blog. Thank you in advance and hope to speak to you soon!

Sales Representative

Do you want your business to become a Fortune 500 company in the automotive industry? Then this is your lucky day, because hiring me will give your company sales a tremendous boost. I am a high caliber Sales Representative with 6 years of experience in the automotive industry. I have always outperformed my co-workers and exceeded company targets. Being the people person that I am, I enjoy taking a hands-on approach to learning what the customer needs. It is my goal to translate customer needs into concrete win-win scenarios that help not only our customers, but also the company I work for.

My manager and colleagues often compliment me for being concise and being able to close the deal. Now for example, I have landed a multi-year government contract. It took a while, but after one year of hard work I was able to close a deal with the county police to replace their entire car fleet with environmentally friendly vehicles over the next 5 years.

I would like to take the next step in my career. If you are interested, I would be thrilled to share more about my background. I am sure that I can be an asset to your organization and that I will be able to raise the bar for your company. Looking forward to hear from you.

